Group registration and attendance form.

- The group facilitator registers members of the group at srs.lds.org/reports immediately after the first group meeting.
- To comply with data privacy laws, all group members must verify that they have an LDS Account. Facilitators should encourage participants to obtain an LDS Account at ldsaccount.lds.org. They should help participants complete this process.
- If a group member chooses not to obtain an LDS Account, their personal data should not be included on this form (name, phone # and Email address)
- In these cases a generic name should be recorded in the on-line registration process to respect the privacy of

At the completion of the Self-Reliance Course

- In the 12th group meeting, each group member will be asked to update their self-reliance assessment in the My Path booklet. Each member will also be asked to complete an anonymous survey including the self-reliance assessment results before they started the group and at the completion of the group.
- The facilitator will return to srs.lds.org/reports to record these surveys and complete a facilitator survey.
- Based on these surveys, additional information will be furnished to priesthood leaders on the overall success of group members on their path to self-reliance
- After completion of the course and registration of this data, including the preparation of course completion certificates, this document should be destroyed to comply with data privacy requirements.
